Lee Collins has been in the financial services industry since 1974. For over 40 years, he has been utilizing his experience in investments and retirement planning strategies to assist his clients in achieving their financial and retirement goals. In addition to working with his long-term clients, Lee actively works with civil service employees to help them successfully transition into retirement.

Lee graduated from Virginia Tech in 1973 with a Bachelor's degree in Marketing Management. As an avid Virginia Tech fan, Lee often spends his spare time supporting Hokie sports. In addition, he also enjoys golfing and spending time with his wife, Lois, his sons, Drew and Mark, and his daughter, Chris.

As an active member of the community, Lee is involved with the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, the Arthritis Foundation and the Sertoma Club of Virginia Beach.
